

Company Day Facilitation

Lena Munk Consult offers to facilitate Company Days and Away Days. We tailor our programmes to ensure it fits your current business objectives whilst mindful that there needs to be a high element of participant engagement in order to create a high energy, interactive environment.

Company days have the potential to motivate, engage and re-energise, leaving people with a renewed focus going back in to the office.

Purpose of Company Days could be

- Helping your organisation maximise its effectiveness as a cohesive unit.
- Exploring the importance of effective cross-functional communication, support and teamwork.
- Creating a sense of unity throughout your organisation.
- Effectively managing inter-functional relationships and expectations.
- Developing mutual understanding among employees and creating a sense of belonging.
- Demonstrating the importance of sharing knowledge and information.

Examples of typical programmes

Communication and effectiveness
Vision, mission, values
Strategic focus - Looking to the Future
"One Team"
Feel Good Away Days

What is facilitation?

Facilitation is about making it easier for an assembled group of people to accomplish what they want! We set the framework for the dialogue and the process that ensure focus on the goal. We ask questions that create reflection and new perspectives. Finally, we ensure that decisions are actually made and a concrete action plan is put in place for how the decisions are implemented.

This is how it is done

Company Days are suitable for any size groups ranging from a few people to a large number. Company Days are tailored to meet your challenges and time plan.

We ensure that each event is structured to achieve a previously agreed outcome, but is flexible and responsive enough to deal with whatever arises, whether it be a business issue or inter-personal.

Is it a fun day? Absolutely!

Do people take actions from the day back into the workplace? Definitely!

Lena Munk
Consult

